A VOICE FROM THE WILDERNESS

A second hand quote for the enlightenment of the Barbarians:

"yobber - (Michel-Wollheim) - This thing-umabob has become so popular that the author deems it meet to quote the editorial in which it originated:

'I, the Mentator Itself, call upon all hoypoloyalists to rise and slice these absolute ones, slice them, writhe and wrote and then--then---- Yobber! Yes, yobber! This is the time for stern measures.

'But first yob the leader. Yob the pohlth ikself! The Pollth that preens and croos. The very Pollth that would durst murmurate the Menator myself! Vah! Tho we scorn with frange these attempts, yet we warn lesser sorji that these things may get out of hand. So forward - YOBBER TO THE VERY END!' From a Mijimag in the 3rd mailing!
