

GAFIA PRESS REGISTER

Part One

KEEPING TRACK of all the publications issuing from a particular person or fan "press" was not something we generally did when I first started to publish fanzines in March 1947. Therefore, I don't have any good idea of the grand total to date of Gafia press publications.

The Pavlat-Evans Index -- if I could lay my hands on it now -- might give me some idea of earlier issues (it covered fanzines up to 1952, as I remember), but right now I forget how many issues there were of Tympani and even of Skyhook. I have my file of Discord to hand, and know that there were 17 issues of that fan magazine, but I am sure that there are many other fanzines, one-shots and nonce publications, that I have forgotten completely.

Such designations as GHLIII Press Publication #520 and Religious Publication #210, given so casually and insouciantly in recent fanzines, fill me with envy. I don't think I will ever publish a total of 520 fanzines in my lifetime, but maybe I'm wrong. Maybe I have already issued that many, but it's hard to say. At any rate, I wish I had a list of all fanzines I have published to date.

Back in Los Angeles, inspired by the example of Bruce Pelz, I did start to keep a record of my fanzines as of 1 January 1964 (not 1963, as I first remembered). What I did between 1947 and the beginning of 1964 in the way of fan publishing will remain an unanswered question till another Harold Piser comes along. And even the record that began in 1964 finally fell into disuse. However, because my publishing since then has been minimal and also confined largely to FAPA, I think I can compile a complete list of my fanzines covering the past 20 years.

I offer Part One of the Gafia Press Register herewith [overside], covering the time before I stopped keeping a running list of my publications. For Part Two I will have to do the drudgery of digging into the files. I offer this Register, not as entertainment, god knows, but as part of the record, following the precedent set by Terry Carr and others. If any latter-day Piser ever arrives on the scene, perhaps it will be of use to him.

- 10A. A one-pager distributed to attendees of the LASFS Halloween party, 1964, as an accompaniment to my "beachcomber" costume.
- 10B. This was a variant of 10A, with a second page added. On this page Gretchen Schwenn drew a cartoon of me in my beachcomber garb.
13. A one-pager, back-to-back with The Hexamorous Horsetail, edited by Gretchen Schwenn.
14. A one-pager, back-to-back with The Sultan's Horsetail, edited by Gretchen Schwenn.
