
DEGLER ! number 3, produced for APA F, 14,
or Trade with other self-confessed crudzines, is published on DiComPress.

I've got troubles.

My duplicator is a very simple model, with a fuel tank not directly over the wick, so that it is necessary to push a button on the side of the machine in order to create a vacuum, which in turn causes the fluid to run through a spigot and out into a little hopper that services the wick. This doesn't work, and as a result I am forced to wet the wick by hand, an arduous task that I definitely don't enjoy. I'd like one of you experienced spirit duffers to take a look at my machine; possibly somebody can help me.

Mailing Comments:

Cover by Stiles: Very good repro, but, like you say, the background machinery gives the whole illo a hurried look, not the best you could have done. But who'd want to do their best for APA F?

GAMBIT 50: And what's the latest Cult news?

TOLADOTH YESHU #1: JEW AND Main: The only comment I have for your immature, neoish sense of freedom from the prying eye of the postal inspector is "Fuck You!"

THE FANOCLAST WEAKLY: Arnie Katz: Fascinating comments on life you have almost overwhelm me. Just possibly you are a hoax, a fiendish plot of some amateur Mandrake the Magician lurking among us. I bet Wollheim would call you "a second Degler."

FANOMATIC #1: DFanArnam: That was very good, what you said, and I think that you just possibly could be more right than the others think you are, except that your point about function is a bit twisted; I suggest that you study Thoreau a bit more. And also, what's a 'subway'?

FIRST DRAFT #19: DFanArnam: Motto for Republicans: Smart Republicans Go Democratic In '64/. Very interesting, but I'd rather not put my hat into the ring before I've ~~kk~~ thot a lot more than I have.

TONIGHTS THE NITE etc.: STEVE STILES: How does all that flavor get through all that charcoal?

OPO #2: P&DLupoff: I don't think that Carl Fredricks knows the Game, and how about Frank Wiggle-Miggle?

BAYING AT THE MOON: McINerney: A Very Interesting review zine, except that you forgot to put some reviews in it...

The CRUDZINE #1, #5&6: Rich Brown hare: I'M glad that you did come to the meeting. If you hadn't, maybe others gradually wouldn't but would send their zines anyway, and we would start to have regular mailings, with that night's host acting as OE.

DEGLER! #2: Me: Ghod, what a crudzine!!!

Maybe I'll have better luck this time around with the bottom of my page. You can also notice on some copies that the fluid causes the carbon to seep thru ~~kk~~ into the back of the sheet. I'd like to correct that, too.

TERRY FOR TAFF!
(CARR, that is)
