DAILY DEGLER #11

This here is the Daily Deglar, a crudzine composed on stencil for anybody who wants one. This here is also DEGLER! number 11, from Andy Porter at 24 East 82nd Street, New York, NY, 10028.

I have some fantastic news for you people; Gary Deindorfer is in town!!! He is also so broke that he was reduced to selling some of his gigantic fanzine collection last night at the FISTFA meeting, I myself being fortunate enough to get three Fantasy Advertiser, the famed Prozine spoof issues. I also got Lee Hoffman's 1961 Five Yearly. Wow, gang, now my collection is complete, and it's all due to that fabulous man, ~~Deindorfer~~ Gary Deindorfer.

Fannish news of the day: Les Gerber started working today at the Strand bookstore. Marland Frenzel (or however you spell it) is also working there at this time. Rumors heard at various fangatherings say that the daring duo will soon pull off a fabulous ~~book~~ theft, and will steal all the books in Strand to set up their own bookstore. The pair are currently engaged in selecting a fleet of trucks in which to haul off their loot...

Wee, people, the fact that the Fanoclasts will bid for the 1967 worldcon is now officially in the open. Announcements of this will appear soon in the September mailing of the National Fantasy Fan Federation's Amateur Press Association, commonly called N'APA. The Announcement will also be in the current or something mailing of Shadow FAPA. Now follows two unsolicited advertisements:

IT'S NEW YORK IN '67!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

and also remember:

VOTE TERRY CARR FOR TAFF!!!!!!!!!!!!

The last nite's FISTFA meeting was really swinging! Aside from the usually quaffing of literally gallons of bbeer, the members bid farewell to that most illustrious of neo's, Arnie Katz. By the time you bother to read this, Arnold will be on his way to Buffalo, NY, where he will begin studies on Tuesday at the University of Buffalo.

Arnold is majoring in Fandom A100 01. He is minoring in The Art of Readable Stenciling, A700.01. Best of luck, Arnold, and do well!!

Well, friends, that's it from the Daily Degler! See you in Philly in November. And remember -- It's ~~Vote~~ Terry for TAFF!
