FAPA Fall 44

"Having been one of those fortunate enough to obtain pre-publication perusal of the Speerscript," writes SAM MOSKOWITZ re the FANCYCLOPEDIA, "I want to say that this is one of the finest projects ever projected and I hope consummated in all the annals of fandom. For one man, Jack Speer did an astounding job both in completeness and conscientious objectivity. By all means let us have a painstakingly neat mimeographing job which can be professionally bound if desired and added to the bookshelf.

"After reading the FANCYCLOPEDIA one wonders how he ever came to consider Speer's previous 'History of Fandom Up to Now' (July, 1939) as an exhaustive work.

"Fans must not forget that they will receive in this 'Pedia' more than the equivalent of any large book and every word of it in the most personal possible fashion about fandom.

"I can scarcely wait to read the FANCYCLOPEDIA in published form. Enclosed is two dollars ($2.00) for two copies."

FANCYCLOPEDIA will cost U only 50c (one copy) if U're a member of the NFFF. Xtras, or orders for nonmems, are but a buck --prior to its completion. The price will very likely change very soon after your receipt of this mailing to: $1.50.

So act now, order this intensely interesting 100 pg fan-bk. It describes 657 difrent dogmas, declarations, disciples, dolings, &c, of scienti-fiction & fandom--no wonder copys are selling like hot cheesecakes!

This sheet is a sample of the paper on which it is being mim-ood. Faparticipators Morojo, Laney, Daugherty, Brown & Kepner are all cooperating in its publication.

Rush cash, m.o. or check to Adam Singlesheet's biografer: Forrest J Ackerman, 6475 Met Stn, LA 55.
