

WALLY — THIS IS WHERE I'LL BE
ISFA NEWS — AUG '72

MEET MEETING AT:
Jim & Loe Lavell's
5647 Culver Street

Indianapolis, In. 46226 phone no. 317 547-3153 Sat. Aug. 19

Hello. This meeting will be Posacon III, and you should come early in order to swim. (You might swim after you've eaten, but I wouldn't try it.) As you Old-timers know, it is also a carry-in supper, and you should check with the Lavells on what your bringing.

Last meeting was like any other mundane picnic; rainy. Among the notables there were Lee and Jim Lavell, Laura and Mindy Clark, Jerry Hunter and Fredi, plus John, Sandra, Chirp, Mite, & Peter Miesel, and Larry Propp. Isfa guests: Jackie, Wally, Sandy, Kurt, & Brian Franke.

Among the interesting topics discussed were the weather, the food, the bridge game, the best way to kill a person, weaponry and hand gun bills, and various shows on television. The bridge game was exciting, climaxed by Jerry storming out after one bad hand. (He did come back.) It was decided that the best way to kill a person was to trap him in the bathroom with some chloroform. (Murder by chloroform is not terribly new; it was used by Sir Athur Conan Doyle in of the Sherlock Holmes tales, The title of which escapes me for the moment. But this is the first time it has been compared with others.) The weaponry talks were on the kinds of guns and knives, and why certain weapons aren't used in wars (I still say that is stupid). And also on why hand gun bills are ineffective (there are too many reasons to go into here).

Has anyone lost or has been missing a lighter for the past few weeks? We found a lighter under the couch recently. (Penguin brand, Japanese made.) We'll be bringing it down this meeting so you can claim it then. (I'm not asking for a discription because I'm sure someone would say "It looks like a lighter.")

My father refuse to play chess fairly. As I get better, he gets better so that I can't catch up. He's supposed to stay at the same level so that I can surpass him.

Also in the same vein; Time magazine recently had an article on Bobby Fischer. In it they had a listing chessgame-style, of what's been going on in the match (example: 32.. . Fischer demands a new chess set). So I've decided to put this in chess moves. That is, give a move for every listing. I hope to have it finished by this months meeting so I can show it off.

Looking over the quirks of the former Grandmasters, I see that I don't have enough to become one. The only one that my father said he'd have in the house was Steinitz and that he would be leary even of him. (Opposed by Alekhine, who did not have any desirable qualities.) (Who said that I had too many quirks to become Grandmaster?)
