

ISFANEWS - JAN. 1972

NEXT MEETING AT: Larry & Laura Clark, 5739 E. New York, Indianapolis IN 46219, $30
Saturday, January 6, 1973

Teachers are there for students to assign problems to them (teachers) B.E.C.

It figures. The first time I feel I have enough to write about to fill up the page, I have to waste space to draw in a amp. Oh well!

Whether I go to this meeting depends upon a lot of things. I have a debate close by, so the arrangement is for me to go to the debate, and then be picked up and driven to the meeting. This is, of course, if the car is working at the time. If not, I get hauled back to merry Blackford and home.

Knowing that you're all dying to hear about my christmas, (Quit greaning back there!), I will proceed. In the book line, I received three books on chess (The Encyclopaedia of Chess, Combinations: The heart of Chess, and Lasker's Manual of Chess), two mysteries (Alfred Hitchcocks) and two Almanacs. Collection items included stamps, coins, and a genuine fake old bottle. Gadgets and games were a clock-radio (I can sleep through those, too.) and 1914, an Avalon Hill reconstruction of World War I. In playing it for the first time, my father and I only broke half the rules. (The allies won, in case anyone is interested.) I also received money, which I immediately spent on books.

Why can't christmas vacation be longer?

Recently got into Postal Chess, where you send the moves by mail. I joined the Golden Knights 25th Annual Chess Tournament, in which you play six opponets at a time. Four chose openings I know little about, and one still hasn't sent in his move.

Stayed up to watch part of Dr. Faustus last night. My mother watched all of it, and said it had been badly edited. Was (viewing? examining?) Dore's illustrations at the time, which I thought was appropriate.

Jerry, maybe we can get together this meeting. At least, bring your chess books and if I'm there, we can agree on a price.

We recently acquired a color Television set. So far, I haven't seen anything worth what we paid for it, but maybe something will turn up.

Donald Dailey wrote in recently and said that he doubted that anyone had seen him, as he had never been at a meeting and that the closest he ever came to us was in another state. (Illinois, I think) I've heard of the invisibleman, but the invisible member?

I am still open for articles, columns, letters, interliniations, anything printable. Hey! I'm running out of room,
FINIS

Editor and writer:

B.E.C.

"Artwork" by Laura Clarck

Happy New Year! help!

