

The Last
Dangerous
Farbers

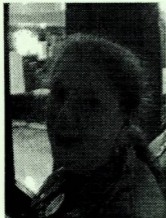

Soon to be a Major Motion Picture

Farberday—The Credits

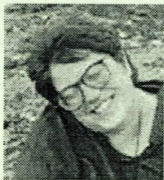

The Farbettes

All of whom Should Have Known Better.

Pam Wells

Bridget Hardcastle

Alison Scott

The Rest

Bridget's Dad—the Garden

Steve Davies—Farberdollars,
Wanted Posters, Weekly World
Farber, printing pocksarcds, badges and other things above and beyond.

Steven Cain—Tiny Fanzines

Giulia de Cesare—The Astral Pole

Mike Scott—Ice, glasses, and so forth. “Farber Day is a fool/money/parting situation, and don't you forget it—MS”

Sue Mason—Badge Design, Gypsy Rose Gary, Psheep and fillos.

Alex McLintock—Uberkrappen-zimmermeister

Pat McMurray—For Services to Farbercues.

Brian Ameringen—Auction, Punch
Roger Robinson—Auction

Evolution—Involuntary donation of the paper for the tiny fanzines.

Postons—For selling us all the sausages cheap as long as we didn't ask for them to be labelled.

The Last Dangerous Farbers Page 5

Plus we need to mention all the people who've sent or given us cold hard cash to support the cause. And of course everyone who turns up on the day and spends money on old rope.

Apologies to anyone we've forgotten (or omitted deliberately).

And, last but not least, Gary Farber, without whom none of this would have been necessary.

Above is an entirely gratuitous picture of Steven immediately after being twhacked by an elephant. The elephant will not be appearing at Farber Day, but feel free to twhack Steven yourself.

This is number 13 in a series of 13—

The Lost Fanzines of Gary Farber

Produced by Alison
Scott and Steven Cain for Farberday. It seemed like a good idea at the time.

Page 8 The Last Dangerous Farbers