Aha, not only did I manage to score with the first zine in the 219th mailing, but it was, as the title stated, the first zine in Jeff Copeland's OEship. Unfortunately, there is no "First Zine in an OEship listing — yet!

Question: Why do Guy Lillian and the U.S. stock markets have in common? Answer: Both have falling numbers. Guy, busy planning a wedding and a lifetime of married bliss, has let the extra-curricular activities eat into his Box Scores (as well as the keeper of the BS deciding that franks no longer get credit). Meanwhile, Jeff Copeland hits the 50 pages per mailing mark and yours truly makes some progress in chipping away at second place T. K. Weisskopf. But watch out for Janice Gelb, who moves into fifth place this month — but with various power blackouts in California, there may not be enough electricity to do big zines out there.

Meanwhile, kudos to Don Markstein, that bastion of Box Score consistency. Sixes
