

A Fanzine for Atom/Rotsler

by Rotsler/Atom

On August 29th, 1964, Arthur Thompson was in LA on a TAFF scholarship, and a party was thrown. Here he and Rotsler met, and held a cartoonists' duel. These eight pages are the result. Each drew half of the panel, then handed it to his opponent to complete. The styles are distinctive enough you should be able to tell them apart.

This fanzine is published by Ted Johnstone, 619 South Hobart Blvd, Los Angeles 90005, USA, and is being distributed through FAPA and OMPA in November & December 1964 respectively. It is ~~Fornchy~~ Publication #86, dedicated to Bjo Trimble, the third of the great cartoonists, who missed the party to have a baby, Katherine Arwen, to whom this is dedicated also.
