Vol I, No.I. Febuary 7th, 1961

This is a one-shot, written and stencilled by Bob Smith, of 1 Timor St., Puckapunyal, Victoria, AUSTRALIA, and with a bit of luck (and some smooth talking) it'll be included as a rider with Bunyip.

Now, if it does go out with some future issue of that fanzine, it'll end up in all sorts of places (garbage bins, etc.), and I can imagine the confusion and head-scratching that will go on throughout countless fan-type homes, not the least of which will be "what the hell does Sui mean? So a fanzine title has to mean something? Anyway, the next paragraph will reveal . the tense drama behind that name and the reason for this amazing burst of fanactivity from the lone Puckapunyal fan, good 'ole Bob Smith.

"Sui" is Japanese and means "sour" or "acid" taste. It's usually accompanied by that exclamation mark, and is the Japanese equivalent of "by Ghod, that's a flamin' awful taste! "Got that? Okay, but there is more yet, so hang around. This morning (Feb 7th) I received the very first issue of John M. Foyster's new fanzine emanation; a thick, 74 page magazine, which is really something in present-day Aussiefandom. (No, no! Don't jump the gun; my title has nothing to do with em...) However, enclosed with this fine example of ampubbing (and you can take that any way you like) was an indescribable, tardy flyer called Flug, and that's why my 'zine is oh so aptly names Sui!

Obviously stencilled and duplicated by a low moron, Flug has the gall to print one of my better cartoons shoddily and without the obvious benefits of it's clever caption, and not only that this crude object refuses to use that great war cry "ENEY FOR TAFF!" more than once, when everyone knows that such blurbs are strewn around fanzines with abandon! Which only goes to prove that an obvious cheapskate was doing the duplicating. So, about here, its time for...

fortaffeney fortaffeney fortaffeney fortaffeney fortaffeney

After effectively cutting the stencill in half we'll continue with the examination of that horrible conglomeration of mishmash called Flug...

As I mentioned earlier, its quite obvious that Flug was created by a moron - nay, I'll go further and label him definitly "insane", and if I'd known he could produce this kind of insanity I would never have allowed myself to be locked in a small room with the same flip...

flip side

character! All this is chronicled elsewhere, though, and the fuggheaded fumblings will be revealed in that stark drama.

Its pretty obvious that you're receiving Sui!, especially if you are reading this(haw!), but if you don't get it, and you consider asking for it, do yourself a favour, and don't. However, you probably got Sui! for one of the following reasons:

You are in favour of eliminating John M.Foyster()
You are in favour of eliminating Roger Bryant ()
You are the finest writer Fandom has, and how'd you like to contribute to Thru' the Porthole? ()
You are, like, so way out that you'll probably understand this gibberish.
You are the finest artist Fandom has, and how'd you like to contribute to you-know-what? () welcomedonstueflotentoaustral:awelcomedonstueflotentoaustraliawelc

Actually if you want to read the whole sordid saga of Smith's visit to the pares of MongoCity of Melbourne and his fateful meeting with John M. Foyster and Chris Bennie as it really happened, instead of the obvious pack of lies that will no doubt appear in Flug, don't fail to get the fourth issue of Bunyip(plug).

Meanwhile, in every issue of emanation you'll find a free sample of the new type toilet paper, whose motto is: "More writing on contemporary poo paper". The name of the toilet paper is "Flug", and I ask you all to try it - then go back to your old favourite.

This was a "Smit" one-shot, put out in the interests of more and better gibberish in fanzines, and providing this typer does a decent job on the stencil you may see more of Sui! (pretty ghastly though, what?)

Just so's nolody will get too annoyed with me I'll even mention "science fiction" in this one-shot:

science fictions cience fictions cience fi

Acknowledgements: Stencills were run off by the generous hand of John M.Baxter; typer was supplied by the local vsstand charlie, who considers me mad but occasionally reads his own science fiction stock; John M. Foyater is responsible for the whole thing.