How Optimum Is a "Clear"?

ONE OF THE most abused, maligned, and misunderstood words in the language of Dianetics and Scientology is the word "clear".

In L.Ron Hubbard's first book, "DIANETICS, the Modern Science of Mental Health", a "clear" was described as a person "without psychoses, neuroses, compulsions, and repressions", and "high above the current norm" in intelligence. A steady improvement in perceptics also could be expected.

Almost immediately, the word itself began to manifest the entire gamut of human aberration. It became both a beacon of desire and the "sour grapes" of unattainability. For the latter, the word took on magnitudes that would have given a "clear" the attributes of the highest of the gods.

The "clear" (Mr. Hubbard said) --even though he wore glasses an inch thick--might expect to start showing marked improvement in his eyesight, often changing glasses four or five times during therapy. The exaggerationists, glossing over the gradient of expected improvement, immediately assigned to the "clear" superlative vision. To wear glasses was to place one low on the Tone Scale (a hypothetical chart predicting what might be expected of an individual under any given circumstance.) Many, fearing that their visual deficiency would be self-invalidating, tortured and squinted and strained in stubborn misery, "knowing" that in time even small print would be no harder to read than was that big sign across the street with the dancing, foggy letters. Sometimes, in the privacy of their rooms, they'd sneak out their "cheaters", but though they could read better, the "overt act" against Dianetics was a new "lock" on their guilt chain.

The moment a hen-pecked husband found himself driven to the necessity of sassing his wife, he "knew" by the exhilaration of redeemed self-respect that, at last, he was (Maybe there's more on Page 3)

AUDITORIALS

TO THOSE We've scanned our en-your reaction to the first copy of The ABERREE.

Apparently, no one believed us when we said we didn't care to continue this beyond the first issue, and checks began pouring in by mail, airmail, and in personal calls. We even got one that must have come by lizard--it took it eight days to reach our desk in Phoenix from the far-distant city of Los Angeles.

But we won't be bribed. Even if we get another 99,867 subscribers, you send us your money at your own risk.

WHY WE Anyone who has spent a MOVED summer in Phoenix shouldn't ask "Why'd you move to Oklahoma?"; but we had a thousand good reasons--if we needed them.
The main one, however, was because we wanted to, and anyone wanting the full list may have same for

$1,500 cash, or one slightly used copy of "Ex-Calibur".

Anyway, we like Enid. We miss the mountains, but there's a grain elevator here higher than Camelback. We'll miss the desert, but at the rate the Texas Panhandle is blowing through our windows, that-
'll be here shortly.

We liked Phoenix, too, but as happens in other towns where The Maestro operates a school, there the auditors and would-be auditors flock and stalemate... ~~We were at~~ the point where we found ourselves talking too much and doing too little work on our own cases.

Besides, why should the Phoenix psychotics get all the breaks? If our goal is to "Make the able more able", we had to get out where the able were.

nullified when the radioactive cloud from the H-bomb blast got out of their control. A fishing boat, far outside the area staked out by the grandsons of the pioneers who chased the Indians out of their homeland, was showered with ashes and 23 persons made deathly ill. Other fishing boats also report contamination, and the tuna market did a nosedive in Japan. It was said that someone said that they have it on high authority that Uncle Sam will pay all damages--and the "Keep Out" signs have been moved out to encompass 800 miles.

Radioactivity, outside the danger zone (they say), was too small to affect animal or plant life, but it was sufficient to put a ra-

for a week.

a clear. The loafer who could look at a job without being tempted by the salary it paid could gloat to the friend from whom he borrowed coffee money that he was a self-determined clear. The bedfast individual who had made life miserable for his friends and family for years could, by taking the few necessary steps that returned circulation to his feet and legs, regain the wavering attention by announcing that he had processed himself into the state of clear. There even was a way to do it with mirrors.

These persons were rid of neither their compulsions nor neuroses. They are part of the great family of aberrees that would gladly throw themselves on a pile of burning faggots if they knew that the deed would obtain for them a few minutes of hungered-for attention.

In the three years since the first book, the word "clear" has been changed, altered, and even hyphenated. No longer is a clear someone who has turned off a headache, or "remembered" what Mamma said to Papa during his conception, or decided not to act like Grandpa just because he hid Grandpa's cane which made Grandpa fall down and break his scrawny neck. Even the ability to read the small type on the editorial page of The Daily Sunnation, or to hear the undertones of a symphony muffled behind the bleating of a tobacco auctioneer, do not guarantee the properties of a clear.

A MEST clear--1953 definition--had no present day problems, and had cleared up all the occasion of this lifetime. It was a big order--but some, after only a few hours of processing (and that from auditors who were far from optimum themselves), announced boldly that they'd hit the jackpot; that, on this merry-go-round of life, they'd found the gold ring.

You don't evaluate, you don't invalidate, but like Ernest, in "The Great Stone Face" by Nathaniel Hawthorne, many of us came hopefully to see, and having seen, sadly turned away. Instead of the miracle we'd expected, we found a person who, under other circumstances and in different environment, might have been expected to park a hand under the lapel of his coat and insist, with great certainty, that he was Napoleon Bonaparte.

With the transition from Dianetics to Scientology--and the discovery that the thetan and the body could go their separate ways--the "clear" became more of a variable. One who merely "gets out" is only a "release". A "theta clear" (Issue 24-G, Journal of Scientology) "is a relative, not an absolute term. It means that the person, this thought unit, is clear of his body, his engrams, his facsimiles, but can handle and safely control a body." In the Doctorate Course, the added ability of not being drawn back into the body if the body is hurt or injured is part of the definition.

There may be clears. There even may be lots of clears. It's even possible that some of those who say they're clears are clears. And maybe, to return to the analogy of Hawthorne's Ernest, those who look and turn sadly away are refusing to look upon themselves. We expect a miracle--not seekers of lost gold mines, not a person in rags and dirt living off the charity of the unarrived, not a person who'll lie to escape blame, even as you and I.

Apparently, the accomplishment of optimum goals as yet is merely theoretical. Possibly, too many have become over-sold on the idea that it's "simple--there's nothing to it", and a clever auditor can get results in a few minutes or a few hours. They're waiting for something to happen TO them--with a minimum of work and study. Or, if they can afford it, they think they can take course after course, and like the rich youth of Saint Matthew, buy themselves into the Kingdom of Attainment.

There are goals above theta clear: cleared theta clear and operating thetan, but for the present, we'll settle for one person on the bottom of the ladder. Nor need they demonstrate the ability to levitate their car across a police-jammed intersection. In a nation becoming shackled by controls of church and state, and steeped in the belief that we must continually prepare to destroy another segment of the world in order to survive, there is much room for a clear to demonstrate his powers in these channels of government. Or in the educational system. Or the communications field.

Maybe it's the word itself that is jamming up the computing machine. When you "clear" a computer, you don't merely remove the implanted number that's giving you wrong totals, you reduce the entire sum to a starting point of zero. Maybe none of us ever will attain this hypothetical goal until we're ready and willing to erase the whole sum and quit trying to find one or two numbers that we think stand between us and it.

Mr. Hubbard has said himself that our goal is to be nothing--and that's all we ever can become. Maybe that's why we never see a real, honest-to-God clear--there's nothing there. As for the pseudo-type (quoting from I Corinthians), "God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty".

Subscriptions Going Up

Due to the high price of coffee, it has been necessary to increase the subscription price of The ABERREE to $1.68 a year. Only by moving away from Phoenix were we able to keep this price increase down to such a minimum.

A Equals A Equals A, And Thus Dianetics Is Equal to Scientology

Miracles still happen! In a report by Rin Tin Tin, giving a play-by-play organizational meeting of the Dianetic Research Foundation's BOG (that's Board of Bovernors), He, She, or It wrote:

"After dinner Saturday night the Board decided to enter into the discussion of Dianetics vs. Scientology. This discussion lasted for a considerable length of time and all phases of dianetics and Scientology were discussed. (Try it yourself, some time, when you have a few spare after-dinner moments.) The purpose of this discussion was to determine the similarities and differences between the two as they are evaluated by the various individuals of the Board.

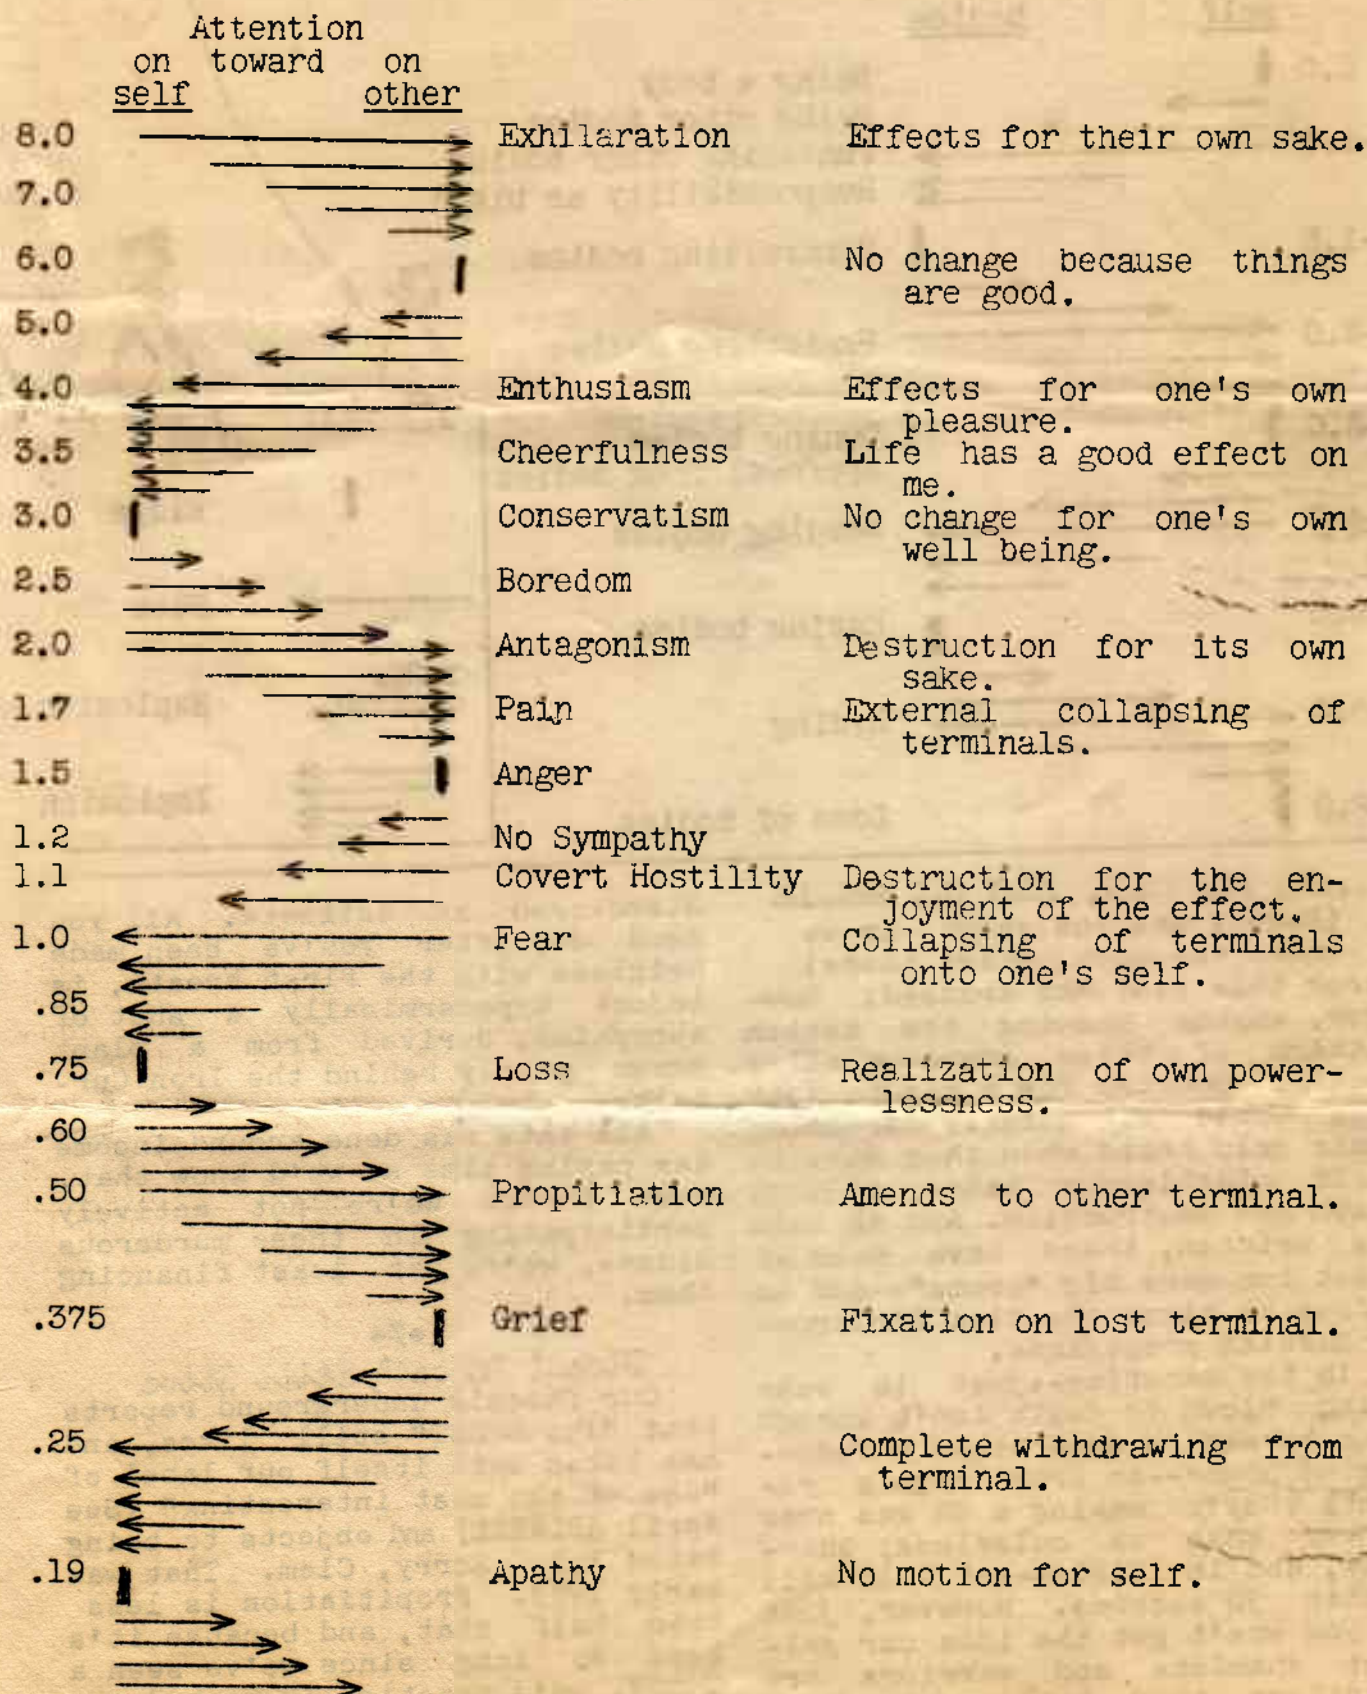

"Since dianetics is, by the definition adopted by the Board, 'The study of the potentials of the human being and methods of achieving these potentials', any work that can contribute to the study of Man's potentials may be considered as a part of Dianetics.

"The general consensus of opinion was that Scientology is a continuation of the basic studies inherent in dianetics from its beginning. The difference between dianetics and Scientology is one of terminology and presentation and not one of basic concepts, in the opinion of the Board. The major contributions of Scientology are in the areas of Concept Processing and Creative Processing."

Students of Scientology may be amused at the narrowness of difference placed by the Board's evaluation between Dianetics and Scientology--but if they remember Hubbard's First Book (Memo to Wichita: His initials are L. Ron) as well as his latest lectures and writings, they'll recognize the place on the Tone Scale of those who insist A equals A equals A equals A.

(Page 2 was too short, or we wrote too much. Start there) furor this test has aroused. However, anyone knowing the action pattern of these grown-up alley urchins doubted for a minute that they would sit quietly caressing their gold braid when they have in their mischievous hands so much death and destruction. And as this was written, there have been at least two more big "booms"--and an effort to blame the sick fishermen to Russian propaganda.

In the meantime--just in case being blown to death isn't enough of a threat to some other war-dominated power--an Army wigbig reports they're making a GB gas near Denver that is colorless, odorless, and invisible--yet will kill within 30 seconds. However, just so you won't get the idea our gallant chemists and warriors are heartless, they tell us they have discovered an antidote. All you need do, after you've been made helpless with the first breath, is inject hypodermically a shot of atrophine, derived from a plant grown mostly behind the Iron Curtain.

All this was done around income tax paying time so we'd know that, even though we're not actively participating in these murderous didoes, we're at least financing them.

Flash! "Ghost" Still Alive

Our Phoenix underground reports that "The GHOST" still lives, and has taken unto itself our label of "one of the most interesting" (See April ABERREE) and objects to being rated 1.1. Sorry, Clem. That was early 1953. Propitiation is less than half that, and because it's been so long since we've seen a GHOST, we'd practically mocked you up as getting pretty close to 0.0.

OVER THE EDITOR'S SHOULDER

"All I can say about your sheet is 'Look, don't think!' Just look at it--and don't think about what's going to happen to it! Check enclosed."--Volney Mathison, Los Angeles.

"The thing I like most about it is that it seems to serve no purpose whatsoever."--Carl Jardine, New York, N. Y.

"I was thrilled to death to see Alpha back in print again! By all means, please send me the 'Aberree'. What an artist you must have on your staff! The likeness was astounding!"--Jean S., Phoenix.

"It was such a relief not to be promised a key to the universe for our $$$s that I'm sending this $2 check to you airmail. Even if I never see another copy, that warning on Page 2 was worth it--but I hope I do. We need something to get our heads out of the clouds," L.T., Dallas.

"...Last evening I read some of the Aberree and some of your letter to a few after the meeting and we all agree that you have hit the button, and now let's get going."--Dr. J. Burton Farber, Glendale, Calif.

"So you don't care whether anyone wants to subscribe to or read your magazine? I can't think of a better attitude for pulling a success out of the Scientologists. They are a contrary bunch. I should know, I'm one of them. Enclosed check for four subscriptions."--Bill Young, Washington, D. C.

"Good luck!-- Richard deMille, Los Angeles.

"The check is for 'The Aberree'. I've made it for $1.69 in case you celebrate getting home and go up on the price again!...The 'Me too' attitude can be very cloying to me and you should let a nice lot of fresh air into the set-up. I'm waiting eagerly for it..."--Elizabeth Gillies, Maitland, Fla.

"I like your attitude, 'Read it and be damned or don't read it and be damned--I don't give a damn.' Nobody but a resisting five would come out quite so free."--Irving W. Smith, Niagara, Wis.

"Ha-Ha-Ha---so my sides are splitting already. Here's a check in case you are fixing to do it some more."--Curtis Janke, Sheboygan, Wis.

"Please remit."--(This letter got in by error.)

"I just saw a copy the other day and I think it is compiled very well. What will be the subscription cost?"--Cyrus Lerner, New York, N.Y.

"If you're trying to be funny, that corny stuff went out with Whiz Band."--E.B., Detroit, Mich.

"I have heard about (but not seen yet) your new publication, The ABERREE. Please put me on your mailing list. Congratulations on your decision to write for Scientology again. I used to enjoy your articles in the Journal of Scn. when you were editor."--Laurence O. Andersen, Los Angeles.

"Keep me on your mailing list. Your first issue was O.K. Keep it up."--Louis Scherb, Chicago, Ill.

PLOWING UP THE FIELD

On our way to Enid, the Ed. & Pub. were guests of Ray and Marie Scharpen in their new Albuquerque home. Joined by Lee Lockhart and Charles Grube, the new techniques were aired and the airing taped. Those who think the Ed. and his green eyeshade inseparable may not believe this, but the eyeshade got left behind in Albuquerque. And it was his favorite, too....Clem and Duch Johnson have taken up residence in Phoenix, midway between Ross Lamoreaux's and Ron Hubbard's. Clem, still recovering from the tin seats of the Clinical school, will trade a dozen grapefruit from his own grove for every preclear brought, sent, or shipped to his auditing room....A recent visitor to Phoenix: Kenneth Postel, of the Detroit Postels. He stayed only over-night, just long enough for a quick "Hello" and a report that the Detroit gestapo still has all the loot from their last spring's invasion....

Carl and LaVerne Jardine, after a year in New York's Greenwich Village, shortly will abandon the filth and the vegetable carts for the West. San Diego, probably. That was home before they got sucked into the maelstrom of the big city....John L. Here, he says, each will have a chance to use his talents--unless those talents are limited to sitting around and contemplating his navel, or being so self-determined he's a drag on the one's willing to co-operate....Dick Steves, after completing the Third Clinical Course, accepted assignment as major domo over the HAS "Bargain Basement" refresher setup....Paul Ishmael has nearly completed his degree in physics at the University of Oklahoma, and eyes a location in the California desert as a physicist....

There's a June conference scheduled for Dianeticists and Scientologists, according to a recent announcement from the Hubbard Association of Scientologists. It'll be held in the Little Theatre in Phoenix on June 5 to 9, inclusive. It'll be called the "Universe Processes Congress--and probably will teach delegates how to get rid of all universes--including the MEST--except their own. Reservations sent in now, in case the MEST Universe should disappear before June, will be cancelled, and all monies refunded....Millen Belknap and Carol Hedley have announced the formation of a new organization, to be known as, the "Antidiseestablishmentaelianisticalitarianism Unit". ALPHIA HART

Freud (Thetan) Gives Ron Exclusive Right To Carry on in U. S.

Once upon a time, Freud was a horrid word that you used only when you didn't want to say "sex". It was like saying "limb" when you meant "leg".

Now, with the formation of the Freudian Foundation of America, Inc. (President: William Burke Belknap, Jr.,) it may graduate from the crescent-vented room with the torn Sears catalog to the living room--or, at least, the auditing room.

Students of the Fourth Clinical Course in Phoenix--still agog over the possibility of becoming Doctors of Divinity, as was promised graduates of the preceding class--heard that an additional bonus was to be theirs: that if they studied and audited and graduated, according to a well-rounded schedule, they also would depart with a certificate designating them psychoanalysts--the only legal ones in America.

It seems, according to reports, that L. Ron Hubbard, when he was in Europe last summer, contacted the thetan of the late German doctor (still stuck to a Vienna spine and bemoaning the fact his libido theory and dream interpretations had somehow got mixed up in war, the need for a pure Aryan race, and a disease called psychiatry), who granted to Dr. Hubbard (Ooops! Sorry!) RON the exclusive privilege of using his name and techniques in the formation of an American organization to perpetuate his name, etc.

Also, since few states have laws against psychoanalyzing, this was considered a good legal ruse--a step above religion. If the law says you can't audit, you psychoanalyze. If that, too, draws censure, you become very ministerial.

It's too bad we live in a society where it's illegal to get well--but like the dole, once a law is on the books, that we have with us always.

But don't ask a Freudian psychoanalyst to interpret your dreams--or what he knows about the libido. His textbook is a copy of "Self-Analysis", a dozen PAB's, and an unread 25-cent pocket book on "The Life and Works of Sigmund Freud". To him, "li-bi-do" may be part of the diatonic scale, on the opposite end of "do-re-me".

Anyway, you'll know by his certificate that he had, in addition to his student fee, an extra $20. That's what his certificate cost.

Seven are Enrolled for 5th Clinical Course in Phoenix

Seven new students were enrolled for the fifth Clinical Course, according to a report from the H. A. S. in Phoenix.

These are: Edna Hubbard, Berkeley, Calif.; Charles Berner, Highgrove, Calif.; Frederico Echavarría, Medellín, Colombia; Leonard Hamilton, North Wilbraham, Mass.; Francis C. Uridge, Fresno, Calif.; if.; and Jim Parker, San Francisco.

The sixth Clinical Course is slated to start May 10, and continue until after the June conference. A seventh, according to present plans, will start June 21. After this course, in August, Mr. Hubbard plans returning to Europe, but his stay there is indefinite.

And Don't Forget Our New Address

MACHINE REPLACES APPETITE

The idea for the above cartoon was dictated by several students of a recent Clinical Course, who discovered the Mathison E-400 would double for a basic metabolism testing machine. By holding the electrode and taking a deep breath, the surge needle bangs against the right hand pin--but only if the person holding the can has had enough sleep or food. Students began checking the machine each morning to see whether they'd had sufficient breakfast to get a full needle throw. Strangely enough, several discovered not only that their diet was insufficient, but their sleeping habits also needed serious adjustments.

Scientology Council

621 South Oxford Avenue
Los Angeles 5, Calif.

"Ha Ha, Ho Ha, He He!!!! - Oh, that 'Line Charge'! What clever thetan cooked that up? Why, the one with the body labeled Hardin D. Walsh. - - We thought it would be a cartoon book for Scientologists only but it seems to be attracting the "naturals" who never heard of Scientology. A very educational book of cartoons about the humorous side of Scientology -- Only $2.00.

One group leader wrote "Sure didn't think that I would have any use for an elementary Scientology book until you sent one to our group. I saw at a glance that you were so right and I had to have it. And that chart! Who is that genius Mark L. Gallert who wrote 'The Elementary Scientology Series'?" - - Oh, just a guy who saw his job and did it. He is also somewhat responsible for the eager doctors milling about at the Council. "Elementary Scientology Series", three books in one, is a must for newcomers - - $4.00. This book is being reviewed by a leading Hollywood newspaper. Will let you know how much reaching is accomplished in case you want to do it in your location.

Say, speaking of doctors - vitamins or better yet, food supplements come to mind. Ron has been after us to fortify the body during processing, some say 200 B₁ and 250 C's are too much - or too little. Some say B₁ without the other B's don't assimilate well, etc., etc. Well, we are aberrated because we needed more certainty on this, so we had a very fine biochemist make a study of our needs and after six months, has come up with a formula that really checks out for us, tailor-made for processing

(with our own Scientology label). I have the formula all written up with complete explanations for group leaders and auditors who are interested in "stocking" this product for the convenience of your p. c.'s as well as yourself and staff. Just write us for the information.

Seen any flying saucers today? One man, Truman Bethrum, who has been on them eleven times will tell the Scientologists all about it this week-end at Scientology Council. Scientology leads the way to direct communication with flying saucers but at this time we do not advise it. This indicates we are living in a new age where scientific methods called Scientology ("the science of knowing that you know") are making man's next evolutionary steps possible. It has been our observation that the p.c.'s who get high enough can contact flying saucers out of their bodies. One man we know made an experiment and found he had even picked up radiation, which was run out. So know your basic laws of motion thoroughly and be very high before contacting saucers. He is now revising his postulates on picking up the stuff. So processed homo sapiens are in the kindergarten of the new age. Thank you, Ron.

Joanna and Hardin Walsh have a tape that has been going the rounds and been widely received. Joanna stressed the importance of the first consultation and tells of actual cases and methods she used at the Council. Hardin lectures on the 4th Clinical course as given to advanced auditors upon his return from Phoenix. It is yours for the asking if you promise to send it to another group. Notify us to whom it went.

Electropsychometric Tone Scale

Mathison Dual-Concentric Electrode

These components have been painstakingly correlated. Valid electropsychometric data is obtainable only by using them together.

Type DC-2 One-Hand Electrode - Usable on any Mathison instrument including older manually-operated models.

This meter registers psychophysical tone—electronically summated levels of physical, mental, and spiritual well-beingness. Lower readings relate to increasing tensions and illnesses. Higher readings (except in special cases listed in the manual "Electropsychometry,") relate to relaxation, serenity, and ease. Very high readings may relate to special metaphysical conditions that merit further research. There is no other equivalent instrument in existence.

Cash Awards

An award of $400 will be paid to the first person attaining tone 40 on a Model E-400 Electropsychometer. An award of $1000 will be paid to the first person attaining tone 100 on it.

Candidate may use instep, finger, or coreless dual electrode. Validation of eligibility for award made in Los Angeles area only at present.

Caution!

There are imitations of Mathison instruments. One of the worst ones contains a combination of AC and dry-cell batteries. This worthless device will vary in its registrations from week to week. We tried dry-cell biasing in 1950 and discarded it, as dry-cell biased instruments are apt to quit working at a critical moment in the midst of a session.

"There is nothing in this world that some man cannot build a little worse and a little cheaper, and this man's customers are his unsuspecting prey."
