AEROEPAGITICA

(The Editorial)

Here is Actifan. Only four months late. according to my proposed schedule!

When I discontinued Tentacle (a New England newsletter) I had no idea that I could produce anything like Acti. I originally intended to go on dully pubing a newsletter type zine and keep within the colonial confines of New England.

I guess the true fannish instinct i n me was aroused tho cause here we are and here I am, (as Lonesome George would say) with a full fledged fanzine.

Through much corresponding and even more luck I have a full to the top stable of writers, and steady contributors. I would like to thank again Dennis Lurphy, Harvey Segal, Ricky Irtl, Dave Bates, John Jeffrey, and Clayton Hamlin for their efforts in this first issue. In the future I'm sure that you will be hearing more from them.

I have numbered this issue number 6. as I intend to shorten the time up to my annish (already in the planning) this then is a continuation of The Tentacle.

I feel that I am just beginning to improove. In the future I fully intend to bring you only the best of what's being written around the Fan World today.

S - T IN ARGENTINA By Richard Albert Ertl

Argentina is starting to realize what s-f is. For many years it has keen attacked and critisised by Argentinians, and the early Argentinain s-f mag "HOMBRES DIL FUTUROS" (1948) ran out of business, although many people defended it. It was the logical reaction for an unpreparepared country too much absorbed in its traditions and restrained psycology.

Only until the new successful mag "MAS ALLA" appeared was science-fiction here to stay, new inventions of the Second World War the enormous immagration increase and the logical desire to know what our future may be all contributed to the success of s-f here. This new magazine opened the door to an infinite and fascinating world.

Soon many people became interested in s-f. As it clearly was shown in a poll taken here last year, most of the readers of s-f in Argentina are students. It is with the students that s-f has its true roots. It is is the new generation that has new ideas, new ambitions, and is eager to build a newer world, a better and happier one upon the knowledge and the ruins of the old one.

Now that s-f has found a home in this count e try and fought victoriously against a hostile way of thinking of the old generation true fen begin showing up everywhere, although they mostly wear an invisible label that reads, "nuts!!"

Nowadays s-f is becoming one of the most natural things of the new generation. One always sees students on their way home in trains reading s-f. Even teachers and engineers as do numerous other people truly interested in knowledge or just simple curosity amuse themselves with s-f.

Of course there arn' T conventions, clubs, or fanzines yet, but if we continue to pick up s-f at our present rate, there soon will be.

TALLY 'D

I'd like ter go out 'untin with the 'ounds, Me 'orse takin' the walls in leaps n' bounds. 'abit would 'ave a coat of bright red. And one of them there Bowlers set on me 'ead. I'd wear a pair of boots, real shiny black, And tote a whip ter give me forse a whack! I might even descide ter wear gloves too, I'd be Den-Dandy fore I wuz through! I can see it all now in me mind's eye-Me 'orse be'ind the 'ounds, them in full cry! Far up a'ead, the fox's bushy tail. Me urgin' me 'orse ter jump a 'oigh rail. Me 'orse took that fence, and went right along But as fer me own self, somethin' went wrong! I slipped from the saddle and down I fell. The way I landed sure 'urt jolly well! So let them 'unters 'ave thier 'appy times. I'll be safer at 'ome writin' me rhymes! -Dennis Murphy

DIANYS DEN

by Dennis (the menace)
Murphy

The New year, name of Fifty Five, moved in and I greeted it from The Den with sneezes and wheezes. Yes, I began this year withone of those rare New England colds that don't miss a part of ones carcass before they relent.

It began the day after Christmas, and is now gone for good-I hope.

After the New Year had been formally greeted, I bundled uzp me achin' bones n' stepped outside to sort of view the nocturnal regions in the hopes that a Flyin' Saucer might be viewed. Didn't see a bloomin'thing not even a strayin' meteor. Gaess they had everything nailed down up there.

So far, I havn't seen a Saucer this year although they're reported elsewhere.

Bob Montana, in a recent publication of his carteon Archie (which yer pal Dinny alwuz raeds) used the Saucers for a theme. Only the Saucers turned out to be flyin' strawberry tarts! Can't help wonderin' which side'v the fence Bob is on regardin' Saucers. Mayoe he's straddlin' the fence, and a guy sure can be after gettin' a mighty sore seat that away! I'm not a fence straddler, I'm a flying Saucer witness and enthusiast.

Been after havin' me poetic efforts read daily on the radio on a program called Polka - Time.

It's a program of polkas, waltzes, and obereks intersparsed with the readin's of rhymes sent in by listeners.

They formed a club which listeners can become members of by sandin' in at least three rhymes. There's about 902 members to date.

Jim MacGovern is the announcer and reader, and does a real fine job of readin! "me Oirish brogue-writ reimes".

However, a short time ago, I sent i n a rhyme titled, "Tally 'O," written i n a combined English-Irish dia---lect. Jim chose that day to let his friend and collegue, Stan, read the rhymes while he spun the platters. Stan is Polish, he has sat in several times when Jim was out.

At the beginning of that day's program, Jim said, "Stan, I can't wait til you read Dennis Murphy's rhyme! "Well, when Stan got to readin' me rhyme be-gorra ye should have heard him tryin' to combine the English with the Irish!

Me poem was a fanciful thing about 'untin' with the 'ounds. Instead of me 'orse havin' the English "or" to it, Stan gave the real Irish "r!" The way I'd set up the rhyme only added to the situation! Jim was sittin' in the backround laughin' fit to bust!

Back to the Saucers again, the Febuary ish of SIR carries a story by W.C. Hall concerning of the that is mighty interesting reading. Hall described the sound of the Saucers as "whire ing." I've heard the sound of the Saucers me own self, (so help me God I have!) and whire-ing is not the way I'd describe the sound. The Saucers, moving slowly are silent. But when speeding low enough to be heard, the sound is very similar to that of automobile tires on a wet read, sert of a "swishing" sound.

The upper photograph on page 16 of STA, accompanying the story is remeniscent of Adamaki's Saucer pix! I dinno- I've never made a day-time sighting, so I can't vouch for its authenticity. I'll set on the fence until I make a daylight sighting. (Ouch, that fence!)

As for the photograph below it, yes,"I CAN" vouch for the realistic appearance of those-Saucers, because that's how they look to me at night! But, to date I have never seen any Saucers flying in formation!

Time to close the cosmic ray-proof doors of the Der for this time.

NEW IN POCKETBOOKS:

Ja nuary;.... Bantam has relesed Fredrick Brown's "Lights in The Sky Are Stars" and in a Pennant edition, "The Altered Ego" by Jerry Sohl. Both were book club editions in 1954.

ACE has released in a single edition "THE CHAOS FIGHTERS", an original by R.M. Williams. J.ION books came out with "False Night" by A.J. Budrys built around the Galaxy novelet "Iron-clad!"

Star S*F Stories No. 3 has appeared with 10 stories including one by Asimov that is quite different from his usual style. To be released in Febuary by Ballentine are:Earthlight" by.. Arthur C. Clarke; "Hells Pavement" a LION origoinal by Damon Knight; "Third From The Sun" which is 13 stories from "Bern Of Man And Woman" by Richard Matheson; and "War With The Newts" the famous classic by Carl Kapec, author of R.U.R. and other class ics.

Scheduled is an ACE double, "One against Eternity" (the Weapen Makers by van Vogt renemed) and "The Other Side Of Here" by Murray Leinster. Also scheduled for MARCH are "Star Rengers" and "A Man Obsessed", an ACE double by Norton and Nourse respectivley.

ITEMS:

Ballentine books reports that the first printing of THE MAD READER was a complete sell -out, and the second printing wasn't nearly enough to fill the demand. Ballentine will go ahead with it s third printing a s soon as the second is off the press.

• It is reported that college towns took a very strong demand for this book, and the book store at M.I.T. sold i t s first supply at the rate of 200 per day!

...the November issue of Popular Science (54) has an artical on Russian Space Publications, mentioning also a big science-fiction contest in the USSR!!!

(Headlines, (or oif you didn't already know it) Department. Wierd Tales went bankrupt..... Beyond (from Galaxy) delayed... Asf now 25 years old.......

IN THE COMICS:

Bill Gaines of E.C., publisher of MAD, Panic, etc., will speak at the New York FanvetCon in April.

...because of the new comic book code, which prohibits exageration of the female form, and other features characteristic to comics, M A D will become a digest-size mag like Galaxy. It will still be mostly in comic form, but will have illustrated stories also.

FLASHBACK:

Just recieved Jack Finny's Collier's serial in a DELL pocketbook. It's called, THE BODY SNATCHERS. Don't miss it. (END)

THOUGHTS TOMORROW

FOR

By DAVID A. BATES

The prying fingars of man search out each thread in the cloth of time, His ships sail accross the mighty dark beyond to the furthest star, his boots trod the alieness of dimentions and the vibratory plain.

That was not enough for man and exploration within the atom began.

In the confines of a single atom, man has fought a costly war, And all the space it occupied was smaller than hight could tell.

I've been on many planets of many far flung stars,
I've worked in the mines of the Rim Worlds, all dead these untold ages,

I've traveled time, and saw alien dimentions, and shivered at the thought of so many worlds co-existing on different vibratory plains.

I've journeyed to a tiny world of a star, all within an atom,

One thing puzzles me...since there is a Microcosm, is there a Macrocosm?

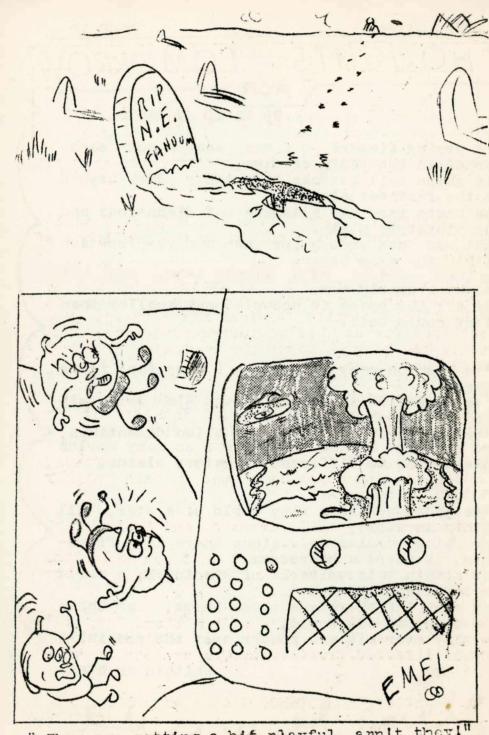

And within this universe of giantness, a world or two like ours?

And what i f there are races there, as there are upon our own world,

Do they ever sit and ponder over the possibility of life....

Whithin an atom.

TOMORROW THE STARS!

By John Jeffrey

In the very near future some daring, irtrep -id adventurer will break the SURFACE TENSION and leave THIS ISLAND EARTH, this PEBELE IN THE SEY. Of course the PREAKING STRAIN will be tremendous, but man will be well rewarded for his efforts. When he and his companions, the FIRST MEN ON THE MOON look out over THE BLACK PITS OF LUNA and see THE STARS LIKE DUST there before them. It will be then that man will make his next DESTINATION UNIVERSE.

Refore heading WEST OF THE SUN however, we must make our MISSION INTERPLANTARY and conquer those glowing and aloof suns that lie BE-YOND THE MOON. Only then will man realize his superiority and no longer be an EXILE OF THE MOON, a virtual prisoner in his own world for countless centuries.

Then he shall turn his attentions BEYOND THIS HORIZON and it will be MEN A GAINST THE STARS. These TRAVELERS IN SPACE on thes JOURN-DY TO INFINITY will be the last pioneers toex-plore our last fronteer, THE OUTER REACHES. WHAT-MAD UNIVERSE lies AWAY AND BEYOND? Only THE CURRENTS OF SPACE will tell us. Those hidden secrets noe PRYOND HUMAN KEN will be reveled for it is TOPMOR OW THE STARS!

BUT, no matter how much he shall travel, nor how many strange and butiful planets he shall see, there will always be one desire tugging at his breast, to return home to the beginning of all humanity, THE GREEN HILLS OF EARTH.

NOTES FROM ANONYMOUS ??????

Dear ML,

I really hate to see what has happened to our revered literature on the ordinary run of plebian newsstands.

I think an organized plan is going on to drown our S-F in a tremendous deluge of sex blood, gore and good clean, wholesome sport magazines. A typical list of what one has to thumb through to get to his favorite mag isat follows: Shows, Focus, Pics, Spice, frue Love Stories (alias "The Comics That Women Like") Day and Night, Outdoor Live (pfaugh) and a whole lot of other discusting tripe!

In heavens name, SOMEONE DO SOLETHING BE--FORE THEY WASH OUR S-F RIGHT OFF THE STANDS !!

The New England scene is still my primary concern. In the future I will also do what I can to help get some sort of organized fandom started in this area.

I HAVE A CORRECTION! In the advertisement on the backcover for the Fanvet Con I have the date wrong. It will be held on April 17 and not the 7 th.

In the past I have done a lot of talking about a New England S-F Conference. Well, it isn't just talk anymore. A conference is being planned for Boston in the spring or Summer. You will be given advance and full info as to exactly when and where when final plans are worked out, I am very pleased and very proud to be the first one to report this. It is sort of my pet project and to see it finally happening is the answer to a prayer.

More news on our SFCon next issue.

Any New England fen who might be planning to attend the Worl SFCon in Cleveland are asked to contact me. I'm definitly going.

This is the last stencil to be typed.(y ay)
After this I'll mail out Acti to you and I hope that I'll get the response that I exp.ect.

The next ish is due in April. Untill the:n I'll retire into my den with a fresh package of stencils and a gallon of coffee and get to work on it.

See you-all next ish

Gavin Brown ----- Scotland

A zine of your own? Glad to help. First here's a suggestion, would like to do a serial self yarn. Have a good one on hand. How about it?

The story I want to break up is to be published in the near future by a book company over here. Yeah, pal I've joined the ranks of the s-f authors. Just how rank my stories will be I don't know!

Have landed contract to write script for Amr. T.V. Library in Hollywood, Calif. If you've a television set keep your lamps on S-F programs for the name of Rocky Rhodes, or my own name.

/ Many programs from Hollywood, (the East Coast) don't reach us, (east) but I'll be watering. Sond along that Ms and thank you. ED. /

Heard from another fan in Winchester that you intend to pub a fanzine.

I've just moved back to Boston from N.Y.C. and might pub one myself-if the urge takes me! At one time I published FANFARE here in Boston, I also belonged to The Strangers Club which held The BOSHONE, a very successful convention, also in Boston, some time a go.

Isaac Asimov, Chad Oliver, and other pro's were members then and our club was very active and well known.

I'm sure that N.E. can do i t again tho and while I'm here I'll see what can be done about forming a fine solid local fan-club. Anyone interested should write to:
