THE OFFICIAL EDITOR'S REPORT

Golly, practically nothing has happened, in the last three months, that required the OE's attention. Just the arrival of a clutch of fanzines from various people. Samples are included herewith.

And speaking of that, people who get the impulse to publish four or five single-sheet fmz in one mailing should pliz remember how easy it is for somebody to pick up one or two extras when making up the bundle...

PRESIDENTIAL REPORT

Possibly the item with the greatest long-range importance, this quarter, has to do with a revised constitution. Presidential permission was requested, and granted, to set up a commission to completely overhaul our present constitution, as several members have independently come to the conclusion a new one was badly needed. Speer has been requested to be in charge; whether he has consented or not, I haven't, as yet, heard. The new constitution will be without legal force until accepted or rejected by the membership, naturally. Other details will have to come from elsewhere, as this is not primarily a Presidential project, and, in fact, one on which I have some personal reservations.

Don't forget to notify the Sec.-Treas. in writing, as soon as possible if you wish to run for office in the coming election.

Several months ago Bill Danner challenged the validity of activity credit given to Wilfried Myers. Similar objections were later voiced, by Harry Warner, in the mailing.

Now, O.E. Eney has raised the same type objections to Coslet's most recent entry. To quote Eney, "one page of chatter--half of it taken up with an explanation of his indexing system--followed by five pages of a checklist of his BIBLE IN ENGLISH index.....here's the kicker: this stuff he's printed was rejected in the first place from the 3rd issue of THE BIBLE IN ENGLISH because he forgot to capitalize the names of the translator/version of the various volumes. So he ran off copies of this rejected stuff for SPS, the Cult, and Fap. 'as an experiment with my "revitalized" duplicator', he explains, to see how long the long-run masters he'd used would hold out.....Coswal has spared few pains to make it evident that his remaining interest in fandom is slight indeed; but when he dumps on us--for distribution at our expense--material he ran off just to see how many copies he could get from his diktograph, I think it's time somebody blew the whistle." Eney admits himself powerless to do anything and passed it on to me. I was forced to give Eney the same answer, here, that both Paglat and I had previously given Danner. The constitution explicitly states, "While some relation to fantasy is desirable, there is no restriction on the type of material included except lawfulness. Coslet's on very firm ground as I think a majority of FAPAns class the contents of the Bible as fantasy. And long tradition supports the practice that the editor is the sole judge of suitability of contents providing it is not unmailable!

I assumed this was universally accepted throughout FAPA but, with complaints from three members of the status of Danner, Warner, and Eney, it appears that this is not so. So I would like a wider reaction.

I've previously expressed myself as to my views on the suitability of Myers as a FAPA member. Coslet impressed me quite favorably in my first couple of mailings when I joined both FAPA and SPS but he then abandoned the chatty personal format he was using and, with one or two exceptions, I've found his material barren of interest throughout most of the six years since. I read neither of the magazines involved. I skimmed lightly through each, saw that they were both of no interest and returned them to the pile. I suspect most other FAPAns did the same. Obviously, both submissions violated spirit of FAPA membership.

What I wish to know is, do you, the members of EAPA, wish to continue the long-standing practice of allowing circulation and activity credit for anything whatsoever, providing it is neither libelous nor obscene? I'd like as wide a response on this as possible, please. If we are to abandon this policy it will represent a major change in EAPA's direction.

I can see no advantage in stiffening the present language. Not only would Coslet's material slip through, anyway, but most of the most desirable items in EAPA would fail to pass any rigid wording. I can think of...including most of the output of Danner, Warner, and Eney. Certainly, I would have no desire to remain in the group if it were ever restricted to discussions of science-fiction and fandom.

Yet the idea has been raised, more than once, of machinery to pass on the suitability of submitted material.

If there is overwhelming support for such an idea here is what I suggest: It is obviously impractical to attempt to pass on every magazine in every mailing. And it would be thoroughly unwise to give any one person (presumably the President, or possibly the Secretary-Treasurer) sole jurisdiction as to what is acceptable. An irresponsible official could raise havoc, with such power. Therefore, I believe the present system should be followed until some flagrant violation of the spirit of the Constitution occurs (obviously we cannot spell out in advance what that would be). Then a written complaint would have to be submitted. This might be from only one member (as has occurred in the examples under discussion), but I think a larger number would be better....three, five, eight...something like that, the number would have to be agreed on and remain standard. It shouldn't be too large, however....or the machinery will fail to function due to its own weight. Upon receipt of such a petition (or individual protests totalling that number of complainants), the official or officials provided with the authority would review the accused material and either allow or disallow activity credit. Possibly one officer might be given sole authority but I think it better to split between three of them (not all four, to avoid tie decisions), with the Veep probably the omitted one. The member whose material had been disallowed would be notified and, if it were his final mailing of the year, he would be allowed an additional ninety days, from time of the notification, to circulate material (either in the next mailing or postmailed) of an acceptable nature. He would be given no extension on payment of dues, however.

The above rough plan is open for your consideration and if you are in favor of it or something similar, any suggestions for alterations or improvements will be welcomed. If this, or a similar, plan is approved by the large majority of those commenting it can be either put into effect by executive fiat, or by addition onto the regular ballot, whichever seems most practical. (I see nothing in it which falls outside the executive power, myself. However, there is a very good chance the decision of the membership will not be made until after my term has expired, so the problem may be passed to my successor, whoever he may be.)

If you want matters continued as in the past, let us know. Unless at least three-quarters of the response is in favor of some such plan, the matter will be referred to the ballot....In any case, an equally huge majority is opposed to any change.

V.L. McCain, President

SECRETARY-TREASURER'S REPORT

There are, as usual, a few items of importance. These will be treated, this time, following the membership and waiting list and report on the status of the treasury. And so on to the membership list:

The following list is current as of the p.m. of 10 May 57. The month listed after your name indicates the month with which your present membership expires. The number indicates the number of pages you need to have in this or subsequent mailings to your expiration date to meet activity requirements. "A dollar sign ($)" means that if I haven't received your dues by Monday, 13 May, your dues are delinquent and out you go. A plus sign means the number of pages shown owing must be in this mailing. An "X" means you owe eight pages by next mailing, an "F" that you owe dues, payable not later than 12 August. There are no grace periods for either dues or page requirements. # New members will find an "X" followed by a date in the extreme right hand column. If the date shown is August, the pages you owe (if any) must either be in the current mailing or postmailed not later than 10 August. If you miss the boat, you will not receive the August mailing nor will you be allowed to include any material in that mailing. If some date other than August is shown, plan to meet page requirements three months prior to the date shown, otherwise you might have to postmail.

Added as of last mailing in the place of William Clyde was Rick Sneary, credentials: material in For Bems Only, The Outlander, Science Fiction Parade, etc. Added with this mailing is Cliff Gould (credentials: material in A Bas, Gasp, Umbra, Mana, etc,) replacing Ron Kidder who intentionally resigned by failing to pay his dues. And, regarding dues and activities, note that I do not intend to notify anyone that his dues are due or that he owes pages. If there is an X or an F next to your name, do something, you'll not be further reminded.

The waiting list has changed very little from last time. Dropped off the list is Walt Bowart, failure to respond to invitations to join. No further word from Corey, so he's off. Jenrette barely satisfied my inquiry, so I'm re-inserting his name in its proper location--between Derry and Caughran. To relieve the strain, acknowledgments of the FA are not required this time except from Jenrette and Geis, who did not reply to one of the last two mailings. This, I think, will tend to even things up since I have been allowing a second chance to laggards. The two named will not receive a third chance.

It looks like we'll not add any more members with this mailing. However, I'd like to mention that Sanderson has already deposited dues and is panting eagerly at the gate, so if you have a spare copy of your fanzine, why not send it on to him. Herewith, the waiting list:

One more than last time. Or one less; depends on how you look at it. A comment regarding Versins: he has warned me that if admitted to FAPA he would probably distribute a fanzine in French thru FAPA. This would be no difficulty to Jean Young, Willis, and possibly one or two others, but it might lead to certain difficulties among the others of us. Versins can write English quite well--better than Jean Linard but not as well as Jansen or Helander (or so I judge from the few pages I've seen) but he prefers French. He asked my opinion of his proposal. I'm asking yours. Wot the heck, if it's the fannish thing to do, I'm willing to learn French.

In re the old FAPA records mentioned in the last FA, McPhail has offered to assume custody and make them available on call. Do I hear any other comments, suggestions, or offers?

BALLOTS GO OUT WITH THE NEXT MAILING. All who desire to file for office please notify me promptly. For your information, the D.C. group will probably be running--most likely for all four offices--but let's have some competition! The right to vote against Washington fandom is the right to be free.

Speer has been requested to tackle the job of a constitution rewrite, as mentioned in the President's message. I was quite slow in asking him, and do not expect to have his reply for a couple of weeks yet. Somehow, the job will be done--if Speer is too busy, I'll pass it on to someone else. The intent, as McCain explains, is simply to bring the constitution up to date, and not to modify or amend existing practices. For instance, dual memberships--we've accepted them in theory and practice, it would seem to be a Good Thing to incorporate this in the constitution. Ditto the FAPA poll, and the time at which new members are required to cite credentials. Any assistance, support or recommendations would be appreciated. I'll be glad to pass on any letters to whoever accepts the re-write job.

Any amendments to be voted on during the annual election should have appeared in this issue of the FA. To my knowledge, there are no proposed amendments, which is a healthy sign.

The treasury is in fair shape, though I'd hardly say we were rolling in dough. Last time, you'll probably not remember, I had 15¢ more than the books said I had. This surplus refuses to balance on the books, so I'm throwing it in as a contribution, as shown below:

	On hand at start:	$83.02		EXPENSES
Dues	$22.50		Advance to OE	$35.00
Contribution	.15		V-P expenses	.50
Income		22.65	S-T expenses	2.50
		$105.67	Dues refund-Clyde	2.00
Expenses		47.00	Mlg envelopes	7.00
Cash on hand		$58.67		$47.00

The foregoing is correct as of 1956 hours 10 May 1957. The OE should have some cash on hand--he had $8.48 as of 2 March, and expenses have been relatively minor so far as I know. However, we still have to post the current mailing.

Not included in the foregoing are some transactions of the OE, such as surplus stock sales for which he receives the cash. It seems easier for him to keep account. I've checked his records up to 2 March, and find everything in order. Postal expenses on the mailings have been high--$22.39 on the 77th mailing (for the mailing proper, does not include costs on copies of the FA for waiting listers). On the 78th mailing, this cost shot up to $38.23, the increase caused by the larger size of the mailing, and the fact that the 77th mailing had been, through a postal clerks error, sent as some class of mail (3d, I believe) which it didn't legally qualify for. Unfortunately, the post office department hired a smarter employee.

Theoretically, dues payments bring in $162.50 per year. Actually, with early resignations, contributions, etc, as well as surplus stock profits, FAPA probably takes in about $175 yearly, or about $44 quarterly. Since the FA costs money, as do mailing envelopes, the mailing of FA's to waiting listers, etc, FAPA simply cannot afford a basic postal cost of close to $40 a mailing. No dues increase proposal is being considered presently; if it turns out to be necessary, I'd prefer an assesment. Also, in reviewing the above figures, I note that I failed to mention that 7 bundles were personally collected by members, thus requiring no postage. Fat mailings are nice, but a little more emphasis on quality might reduce the sheer quantity and help cut mailing costs. I hope nobody will interpret this as a plea to cut good material; it is a plea to stop sending cast-off crap to FAPA.

Which brings us to the final point, that of maintaining and improving FAPA. Members--how do we eliminate the hangers-on and forbid the entrance of the objectionable? Comments are desired. From this end, I intend to review fanzines quite carefully before allowing credit (refusals of credit will be checked with the other officers) and not to notify members, except in the FA, of dues/page requirements. It's your membership.

Did you file for office?

—Bob Pavlat, S-T

VICE-PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Several items at hand this time. Stan Woolston has raised the question of extra copies of post-mailed magazines being sent to the official editor as spare copies. Our president has asked me to rule on this. Although not specifically required in the constitution, my memory of some of the discussions that took place when the revised constitution was being drafted lead me to believe that there was some feeling that extra copies should be available. Since the intent of sending the extra copies to the editor was to cover any possible losses in the mail, it seems that similar considerations would call for a reserve of post-mailed items. Therefore, I will rule that three extra copies of each postmailed magazine shall be sent to the official editor. Members not receiving copies as listed in the next FA can then communicate with the official editor for replacement copies. If these copies are not supplied, the magazine shall not be considered an official part of the mailing. It is suggested, but not required, that five would probably be a better number, since post-mailings seem to go astray more often, or an obsolete mailing list is used.

Question two, which I have raised as a member, asking myself as vp to decide, concerns credit for material by a non-member [franked] being used as activity requirements after he joins. This, of course, is illegal, as section 3 of the constitution will show.

McCain, as a member, has questioned Wilson's statement that the sec-treas. alone has the authority to pass on activity credentials and that under no circumstances could the president override him. According to the constitution, the secretary-treasurer keeps track of members sustaining activity and evaluates the credentials of prospective members. Should a question arise as to the acceptance of either, the dispute should properly be referred to the vp for a ruling, since this is clearly an interpretation of the constitution. Questions as to the exclusion of material are likewise in the vp's realm. Obviously, this would require a complaint from some member (who could be the vp himself, ex parte). Incidentally, if the matter in question is the acceptance of a membership credential, which the applicant feels has been improperly rejected, he may, although not a member, petition the vice-president for a ruling. This should be covered in any new constitution, so that the applicant will be aware of his rights of appeal.

Attention should also be called to the fourth sentence of paragraph two of section 5 of the constitution, in view of the franked items which have been recently circulated. This would give the oe the power to eliminate certain items which have been circulated in recent mailings, if he should desire to do so.

Surplustock sale ... first installment

##As many of you know already, there is plenty of surplustock left in Southern California ... it has been sarcastically mentioned editorially, ... and some of you have seen warts of it. Herewith, a bare beginning of a listing. Ellik has much more; Burbee has much more; I'm starting here on about a third of what I have. More will be listed later. Price is based on the standard rate of a half-cent for a printed lettersize page, with reductions for complete mailings. Send money, and include a bit for postage if you will, to former official (that's why I have this stuff) Don Wilson, 1066 Elkgrove Ave #1, Venice, Calif. Money goes to Pavlat when I accumulate enough to warrant a payment.

OFFICIAL EDITOR'S REPORT (Cont'd)

IT ISN'T ALTOGETHER THAT I DON'T READ MY OWN DECLARATIONS, but if you will read the President's message you will see the reason for the inclusion as Horrible Examples--i.e., non-rejection pursuant to Section 5, Paragraph 2 of the Constitution--of two items in this mailing which shall be nameless. (Interested faaans are advised that three guesses are above par for figuring out just which two are meant.) But be alert; next mailing is our T*W*E*N*T*I*E*T*H A+N+N+I+V+E+R+S+A+R+Y and a fine time to put on the screws about legibility and that little requirement about magazines being, substantially, the work of the submitting member. Grunch.

TIME AND SUCH THINGS It does pass, doesn't it? Twenty years of it will have passed--well, approximately--as of the 80th mailing. Something should be done about this situation, I think.
