PRESIDENTIAL MESSAGE

(Supplement to the February mailing)
Dave Van Arnam has asked me to do something about his membership, on the grounds that 7½ months confinement in a Mexican prison is a situation not covered ed by the FAPA constitution. He tells me that he expected release soon enough to contribute to the February mailing, and now expects release by mid-February. He also reports asking two FAPA members to circulate a petition, without pinpointing the exact type of petition.

I think the circumstances justify my proclaiming a one-mailing period of grace for Dave. He emphasizes that he wants to contribute regularly to FAPA and that he will have access to publishing equipment as soon as he can return to the United States. So, unless petitions have already been completed in time to make my decision redundant, I approve extending until the May 13 mailing date the deadline for Dave to provide activity credits and to pay his dues.

+ + + Report for May

If you were FAPA president, what would you do with a member who admitted that the CIA had financed the publication which he had used to complete activity credits, but appealed to me to retain his membership because two other FAPA members don't exist and are actually hoax-fans?

I didn't rule on that situation because it was the one mess that did not turn up to bedevil me during the past three months. Everything else you could possibly imagine happened. Maybe the other officers will describe some of them in their messages. I don't have the heart to relive the exciting events that ranged from the question of whether being in jail is a situation not covered by the FAPA constitution (I decided it was) to another member's query whether he should send 68 copies of the fat fanzine that would arrive from his publisher four days before the deadline via airmail to Gregg, when he doesn't need the activity credit (mercy, no, I said, my parsimonious nature shrinking from the very thought).

And as the sun sinks slowly on my term as official president, I would prefer to make one formal and official request to this organization. Please, will somebody rewrite the constitution, or hire an attorney, or contact the Eternal Verities, or otherwise solve one potential organization-wrecking ambiguity in the constitution? The president deals "with situations not otherwise covered by this constitution" and there's nothing in the constitution advising how anyone can sort out situations covered from those that aren't. Rick Sneary and I think alike about most things, and the ambiguity caused no trouble during this past year. But sooner or later, a future president will be at odds with his vice-president, the president will consider an issue not covered by the constitution, the vice-president will consider it an issue involving the meaning of the constitution, and they will issue contradictory rulings and which ruling does the organization observe?

Orders to the OE: Gregg Calkins, 150 Las Juntas Way, Walnut Creek, Calif 94596

Alternate titles would be appreciated. I haven't handled a surplusstocksale before but I can see where a certain amount of potential FAPA profit could easily be eaten up in postage making change, refunds, and so on. Sticky quarters, anyone?

The comparison of the placing in the final standings may not be worth the time and trouble to list. A different system of numbering was used in the 1969 list so I renumbered them to conform to the same system (I find I was one number off after 11th place...but of little importance...) I tried to place "0" for years there were no points but the person was a member, and "-" when they were not a member during those years.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO FAPA

The peacefull months in

nothing to do and nothing to worry about ended with this last quarter. Three members, Carl Brandon Jr, Don Miller and Dave Van Arnam, memberships were Dead On Arrival, as of the last mailing, and they all appealed. Dave's was the more unusual case, and he petitioned under Article 3.3 as well as appealing to president Warner. I believe Harry will report on this, but as Dave got the needed 22 signatures there is no problem.

Brandon and Miller were granted a one mailing extension by executive ruling, because of Postal foul-ups and delays, and Administration confusion, not helped by flights of letters that crossed in the mail. They are expected to have their make-up zines in this mailing, or there will be more confusion.

The Ego-Boo Poll had a slightly better response this year, for which I am grateful ...though the frequent reminders of FAPA friends that they hadn't voted yet, helped. I haven't looked it up, but I believe 18 ballots may be the best return in years. But due to the wide spread in the voting it looks even bigger. And it required the fanatic of three days to tabulate and prepare. Of course the fact that I counted the non-cast points, and then totaled the lot to make sure all the points were accounted for, was good bookkeeping practice, but a lot more work. The results are fairly interesting, if only to show how quickly we forget. Not one vote for the Coulsons, though they were still members during part of the year covered, and thus more eligible for notice than several of the non-members who did receive points. But, at least no active member who has published a first issue suffered the fate of zero points.

I did have my mind changed over one thing, regarding the poll. Early on, I received ballots from both Earl and Jan Evers. I checked the constitution and read Article 2.5 "Husband and wife, each having acceptable credentials, may establish and maintain a joint membership, which shall be regarded as a single person for payment of dues, receipt of mailing, voting in elections, signing petitions, and in holding office."

In view of this I wrote that I would except only one ballot from them, and unless otherwise informed, I'd take Earl's as the one to count. They didn't protest, but when I mentioned this to Evans and Warner, they did. Also ex-officer Ed Cox took me off in a corner and tried to explain it all to me. How husband and wife teams put in equal amounts of work to retain the joint status, and each have a right to cast ballots in the poll. As this does seem to be the precedent, I reversed myself and did count both Earl and Jan's ballots. (The Moffatts, who had cast a single ballot, after reportedly argueing all night as to who had the right to vote for which, and for what, and for whom--on hearing this, doubled their vote.)

I did it, but I can't say I liked it. I can't see anything in the constitution that I can interpret as meaning this. To me the idea of joint membership is like that of a business partnership, in which eather member is responsible for all the oblogations of the partnership. The way it is, seems to confer an unfair advantage in the balloting (though not enough vote to make any difference in reality). While it doesn't apply to the Evers or Moffatts, why should a joint membership who are getting by with min-ac, have the right to vote twice, when Warner, with 96 pages a year, votes only once? Or, what of married members who maintain two full memberships, like the Breens, yet issue joint fanzines? They have twice the expense, with no extra right on the Poll. Should they take out two joint memberships, and thus have the right to four Ego-Boo Poll ballots? The constitution doesn't say they can't, any more than it says that joint memberships can. Do you think it fair?

Two other items...two members sent in ballots a week after deadlines (from different States). This only shows that not all fans are Slans, and that some members have as much trouble reading figures as I have spelling words.

Lastly, I do not plan to follow the FAPA tradition in which the Vice President runs for President next year. So, someone else of you better file. I expect to be plenty busy this summer with four local Cons...so, you all come, you hear!

Rick

+++++ (continued from following page) Currently valid joint memberships would then seem to be the Busbys, the Coxes, the Moffatts, the Pavlats and the Thompsons. And the Evers' as well. I assume all of these people had initial credentials--only the S-T could say for sure. Note that Marion Bradley and Walter Breen, although married, have elected to maintain separate memberships, both producing renewal credentials, paying dues, etc.

The egoboo poll, on the other hand, is a sort of semi-official document, mentioned in Section 6.12 but otherwise unspecified. Voting in the poll is not a requirement for membership. (If it were, a lot of lazy bums would be out on their butts!) The purpose of the poll is public recognition of the efforts of the more prolific and talented members of FAPA by the rest of the membership. As I see it, the more voters the better and I see no reason why otherwise active members who are sharing one membership to conserve space should not each cast a ballot if they desire to do so. This is all unofficial, of course, since I am only the OE, but to me it all seems very reasonable.

The S-T has been very busy and did not mention it, but ballots will be included in the August mailing. If you want your name to appear on the ballot you must file with the S-T in writing. I've decided to take another fling at being OE again--I must have something wrong with my head--and hope the assembly session scheduled for this weekend justifies my decision. But let's have some candidates, how about it?

FFICIALLY

EDITED

Sneary's gripe about the double ballots in the egoboo poll bears a little discussion at this point. With the 83rd mailing and effective April 15, 1958, the FAPA constitution was revised with respect to memberships. In particular, Section 2.5 was created, which says: "Husband and wife may jointly share a single membership, and will be considered as a single person under the requirements of this constitution." In the 87th mailing, then President Bob Pavlat further ruled: "A person on the waiting list who marries a FAPA member and thereafter shares a joint membership may, when legal action is instituted to dissolve the marriage, reclaim the position he formerly held on the waiting list with respect to persons who were on it at the time he became a joint member. If this position has since advanced to within the membership the individual shall be admitted to FAPA as a full member upon payment of dues. Renewal credentials as required of a new member will be required. The original member shall retain sole rights to the former joint-membership position."

In the 98th mailing, Vice President Bill Evans said: "I almost forgot. This year, married (joint) memberships get two copies ((of the egoboo poll ballot)) to avoid fights." This was an independent decision on his part, presumably under the auspices of Section 6.4, and thus began the double ballots.

In the 104th mailing several amendments were proposed. One said: "Amend Section 2.5 by adding: 'Husband and wife, each having acceptable credentials, may establish and maintain a joint membership, which shall be regarded as a single person for payment of dues, receipt of mailings, voting in elections, signing petitions, and holding office.'" This amendment passed. Another proposed amendment read: "Before a dual membership is eligible for renewal as a dual membership, the Secretary-Treasurer shall ascertain that both partners have contributed equally." This amendment apparently did not pass--it does not appear in the constitution, and S-T Bill Evans made no mention of it either yea or nay.

There may have been some other rulings and/or discussions, but I can't remember them at the moment. So, what does this all mean? My interpretation is that in order to sort of stretch the 65 member limit just a trifle, married members were allowed to adopt the corporate fiction of a single entity. I always considered, myself, that in order to maintain the jointness of the membership, each party was required to maintain renewal credentials. The first Section 2.5 said "...considered as a single person under the requirements of this constitution" but the revised Section 2.5 does not. The amendment to require equal participation did not pass, so apparently the general FAPA sentiment is to not require more than 8 pages between them to maintain renewal credentials for both members. Initial membership credentials are required for joint membership, but the spouse is not required to apply for a position on the waiting list. (continued on bottom of previous page)

There will be no factual-type information on the back cover this issue because the place is overrun with all sorts of crazy science-fiction fans and I am eager to get out and join them rather than dig through musty back issues of the FA.

Present (and helping) are: Bob & Barbara Silverberg, Terry & Carol Carr, Charles & Cora Burbee, Elmer Perdue, Dick & Pat Ellington, John Berry, and Mike Deckinger.

This is such fun that I think I will make it a quarterly celebration. All of you Bay Area FAPA members and waiting-listers are hereby invited to the Second Quarterly Bay Area FAPA Assembly Invitational Session (the acronym spells CRAZY NUTS!) to be held Saturday, August 12th, 1972, from 1 pm. until whatever. Bring your own booze, but some sort of meal will be served during the late hours of drunkenness and you can recover on Sunday.

Now let's get out the mailing before it is too late...
