"S-F DIGEST" FOLDS

3RD ISSUE WAS READY FOR PRINTER

New York, N.Y., (CNS) - Science Fiction Direct has folded, even while the 3rd issue had been prepared and was ready for the printers. The 3rd issue should have been on the stands in late August.

Chester Whitehorn, who also edited Vortex Science Fiction for the same company (which also lasted but two issues) is now Entertainment Editor of the vest-pocket size news-weekly, Tempo. He hasn't any plans, at the present, to edit any other science-fiction magazine. He was, at one time, the editor of Planet Stories.

Science Fiction Digest, was one of the new ideas in the presentation of science-fiction. It was the first attempt to present, under one binding reprints of science-fiction from other than the regular sources.

POCKET BOOKS BUYS PERMA-BOOKS

New York, NY, 1 August, (CMS) - Pocket

Books, one of the oldest pocket-size

book publishers, bought out Perma Books from Doubleday and will continue it, as a division of Pocket Books. Starting

October 1st, Pocket Books will publish four Perma Books a month. These books will continue to be known as Perma

"PLANET STORIES" NOW ONLY FICTION HOUSE PULP

HEVS OF PLANET FOLDING
"Greatly Exaggerated" - Jack O'Sullivan

Stamford, Comm., 31 August, (CNS) - Planet Stories, as in the case of Astounding, is the last pulp left to Fiction House. All other pulps including Jungle Stories, that published the Ki-Gor series (Tarzan-type character), have been discontinued.

Stated Jack O'Sullivan, editor of Planet Stories: "As I have often said before the news of Planet Stories' death is greatly exaggerated.

"Planet has been reduced to a quarterly, that is true, and hits the newsstands on March 1, June 1, Sept. 1 and Dec. 1. I might add that we are looking forward to the day it shall resume its bi-monthly status, aye, even monthly.

"All our other pulps have discontinued publication, I am sorry to report, including Jungle Stories. When, if ever, these magazines shall resume publication, is very difficult to say Mechanix Illustrated, Sept. 1954: "Untold Facts About The H-Bomb" by Martin Caiding The author is Atomic Warfare Specialist for the N. Y. State Civil Defense Commission. The Public has been apathetic about CD, This is the sort of article to whip up the public & get them to join CD. Me. gonna run like hell. (Where to? -ed) ...

Man's Life. November 1954:

"Dust Of Death" by Michael O. Barski. This is an extremely interesting article. It's fairly long and for a change has some meat to it. Most arm ticles of this type merely rehash times & leave everything hanging in air at the end. The author claims that the USSR has a Cobalt bomb & has bomb launchers on the Kuril Islands north of Japan. The prevailing winds would then carry the radioactive dust over the US. No planes or missiles would be necessary.

He further claims that the defecting scientist, Dr. Bruno Pontecorvo, is behind this scheme. Also states that the weather data was obtained from tho Japanese, who sent balloons over to the US in W.II. Said the US learned that Japan intended using biological warfaro via these balloons & Pres Truman than ordered the A-Bombs used on Hiroshima, Nagasaki.

Collier's, August 20, 1954:

"What Are We Doing About Our Deadly Atomic Carbage?" by Robert De Rooso Nothing new, here, for the averagefan. It does make interesting casual. reading, Tho. One idea has been suggested that we use rockets & shoot our atomic garbage out into space to get rid of it.

ies edited by Donald A. Wollheim, in one book. Ace Books, NY, 35¢.

"Beyond Human Ken", edited by Judith

Merril, Pennant Books, NY, 25¢.

"No Time Like The Future" by Nelson S. Bond, Avon Books, NY, 35¢.
