

METROFAN BULLETIN # 2

edited and published by Andy Porter at 24 east 82nd street
New York, New York, 10028, it is published for New York fen and others interested in the goings on of the New York fan scene. Subscription rates on request. This issue is free.

The Metrofan is one again resuming publication, after an absence from the New York fannish scene of some 6 or 7 years. Future issues will come out every month, and will consist of fannish news of new york fans, fans visiting in the city, fanzine reviews, special fannish get-togethers, and news of the regular clubs of the New York area. This issue isn't really the Metrofan, but rather a special issue designed to present the Metrofan to New Yorkers. Subsequent issues will be 2 to 6 pages, and will probably be mailed to those who contribute news or subscribe. This issue sees not much news, but a great deal of editorial ramblings; for this I must apologize.

FANS IN NEW YORK FOR A WHILE:

Ron Ellik will be in New York for the next two weeks, after which He will return to Washington, D.C., en route to a new job on the West Coast. He can be reached care of Terry Carr.

The Lupoff's, Pat and Dick, were in NYC this weekend visiting friends, getting used to civilization again, and following the progress of Dick's book, Edgar Rice Burroughs, Master of Adventure, which is currently at the bindery.

A special theatre party to see the New York opening of The Worlds Of Ray Bradbury is being organized. The Bradbury plays will generally follow what has already run on the West Coast, although some new material may be added. So far, fans show a great eagerness to be counted in on this party, which features reduced rates on seating. If you are interested, contact Mike McInerney, 326 East 13th Street, phone number GR#3-8230.

Next fan meeting in the New York area will be the Eastern Science Fiction Association meeting on Sunday, October 3rd, at the Newark New Jersey YMCA on Broad Street, at 3 PM. To get there from New York take the 161 Public Service bus from the Port Authority, and walk 2 blocks across the Military Park to the Y.

The next meeting of FISTFA will be on October 1st at the Apartment of Mike McInerney, 326 east 13th street, apt. 7, after 7 PM. The FISTFA is extremely informal, so bring plenty of beer and money; there may be a poker game or three going on, although I personally hope not.
