

Title

PHILOSOPHICAL GAS

NUMBER 35 : NOVEMBER 1976

[illegible]

Imprint

Written, printed & published by John Bangsund, PO Box 434, Norwood, SA 5067, Australia, for members of FAPA, ANZAPA and GRAPPA. Recommended & maximum retail price A$5.00 per copy in Australia; overseas US$0.07 or one pound sterling, whichever is the less. Subscriptions are not invited at present, in case Jimmy Carter devalues sterling before you see this issue.

Contents

In this issue the editor has written a lot of boring stuff about what happened in Australia on 11 November 1975, Stanislav Lem, and the death of an old friend. However, to relieve this gloom, there are two articles by John Foyster — on the true origin of 'Australian Science Fiction Review' and the dubious reason for its decline.

Not a great issue, but one cannot but be amused by its presumption.

[illegible]

Errata &c

The editor apologizes for inaccuracies and inconsistencies in the lead article. He pleads that it took nearly twelve months to write, and over a month to stencil, during which time his attitudes, spelling &c changed. Merry Xmas.