Due to technical difficulties beyond our control, the first issue of AKOS was not quite ready to be collated on April 10th. Sorry about that, gang. Nevertheless our able editorial staff guarantees that Thursday, May 1st, there will be a collating party, magazine or no magazine. It will be held in the Postcrypt (basement of St. Paul's Chapel) at 8:30 P.M., assuming there is still a St. Paul's Chapel by then. Possible alternate locations we are considering include the basement of Hamilton Hall, the basement of Low Library, and the basement of the 24th Precinct Police Station, depending on the circumstances. B.Y.O. gas masks.

Lunacon was terrific, even if we didn't have a magazine to sell. The highlight of the program was the inimitable Isaac Asimov. Dr. Asimov is an incredibly witty person who, at any convention he goes to, makes his presence felt. Attendance at the Lunacon was over 600, with lots of pros, parties, and panels. Next year promises to be bigger and better.

Below, Part II of "The FSFSCU Library"
When we last left our hero, he was caught in a vicious battle between the Dragon of the Ishtar Gate and the Worm Ouroboros. By a superhuman effort he has escaped, only to find himself confronted by:

Gaskell, Jane THE SERPENT
" " ATLAN
Harness, Charles L. THE RING OF RITORNEL
Herbert, Frank THE HEAVEN MAKERS
" " THE SANTAROGA BARRIER
Hoyle, Fred & Elliot, John ANDROMEDA BREAKTHROUGH
Kuttner, Henry VALLEY OF THE FLAME
Laumer, Keith GALACTIC DIPLOMAT
Leinster, Murray THE ALIENS
" " SPACE TUG
" " THE WAILING ASTEROID
Lewis, C.S. THE SCREWTAPE LETTERS
Lurie, Allison IMAGINARY FRIENDS
Matheson, Richard SHOCK II
